Question	Answer
Wow, quite a change...MSNBC to FOX??? Do you mind if I ask which party you identify with?	My political party is truly independent, especially in my local elections. I vote gop and dem depending on who the person is, etc.
By the way, if you're Bill O'Reilly, I refuse to fund your loan...	If I was Bill O'Reilly I would have enough to fund anyone's loan! ;)
What is your position at Fox, and could you send in verification of your income to LendingClub? Thanks	Hi roadtrip. Thanks for your question. I am an Associate Producer with FOX News Channel. I certainly could provide a apy stub to verify my income just not sure how to get that to you?
What do you do for Fox? And will you still take the Loan if it is not funded 100%?	Hi Markookoo2001. Thanks for your question. I am an Associate Producer with FOX News Channel. I would probably take the loan if the funding reaches $10,000 or more.
I think to verify income you would fax information to LendingClub directly and they would indicate on your loan profile that you had provided that to them. I'm not sure of the process but maybe their customer service line could provide that information. Hope this helps.	Hi roadtrip. Thanks for getting back to me. I will call Lending Club.
Why isn't this expense largely covered by health insurance?	Hi theflyer. Thanks for your question. And the honest answer is, they have added to my medical coverage a clause which does not allow insurance to cover any medical equipment for a pre exisiting condition. They did say, though, that there could be a case by case basis. So I submitted a letter and followed up with phone calls and was told my case would be "seriously looked at" the next time insurance makes its yearly changes, provisions, etc. The problem is that won't be until January 2010!

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

I tried for 2 years to start my own business. I failed. Now I have alot of credit card debt. I started a new job making decent money for the area I live in, but my interest rates have gone to 25% or higher and making the minimum payments has become a stretch. I have 4 credit card accounts, 2 credit reserve accounts, and an unpaid hospital bill I would like to pay off with a single 60 month note. Right now my payments on these debts are $730 I would need a $20,000 loan to pay off those. With $15,000 I would pay off 3 of the credit cards, the 2 credit reserves, and the hospital bill. Combined payments currently on this option is $555. I have a 9 month old son and a 3 year old daughter. My wife and I would really like to start to dig out of the hole my failed business attempt has put us in. Please help.

Question	Answer
What was the nature of the failed business?	I was involved in financial services. I attempted to sell life insurance, medicare advantage plans, annuities, mortgages, etc.
In your description you say you would like a 60 month (5 year) loan. Are you aware that LendingClub loans are only 36 month (3 year) loans? What that would mean is your monthly payment would be $700 every month, NOT less than $500 every month. Understanding that your payments would only be $30 less than what you pay now, is that enough for you to dig yourself out and be comfortable?	Yes, I am aware that they will only go up to 3 years and that I would only be saving about $30.00 per month. $30.00 is $30.00. Everything helps at this point and in addition to lowering my payments $30.00 I will be paid off in 3 years or less because of the decreased interest rate. At my current rate making minimum payments, who knows when I might pay off.
1. What do you do for work now? 2. Also, in your description you mentioned getting a loan for $15,000 yet you only submitted for a loan of $8,875...why not the $15,000? 3. Could you also list your other monthly expenses? Thanks	1. I work for Jake's Fireworks, Inc. I am in an Inventory control position with them. I am helping them impliment a new electronic inventory management system. Once implementation is complete I will stay on with them to continue insuring data integrity. 2. I only submitted a loan for $8,875 because that was the maximum Lending Club offered me as an option. 3. I think as a lender this is probably a fair question to ask, but as my loan has now reached 100% funding, I would rather not divulge any more personal information at this time. Thank you all

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

I'm fed up with credit card companies arbitrarily raising rates on me. My payments are always early, and more than the minimum. I'm saving money any way I can these days, and reducing the rate on my debt will certainly help. With this money I will completely pay off my three credit cards. As an architect, I have a relatively high and constant monthly income that will more than pay the debt service on this new loan.

I'm just a little concerned. It's only been 4 months since your last delinquency. Could you clarify what happened there?	Hi jondelph, I live in a 400 unit mid-rise apartment complex in Chicago and mail delivery is very unreliable. Often pieces of mail are put into wrong mailboxes, or never delivered at all. I never received the Macy's bill, and wasn't made aware of it until 20 days later when I checked my credit report and saw it was marked as late. It's the only delinquency I've had in all of the seven years of my credit history. I hope this helps. Thanks for your inquiry and please don't hesitate to ask any additional questions you might have. - -CF

how did you rack up so much debt (your utilization is practically 100%)? what do you do for bank of america? can you provide lending club with a paystub to verify your income?	I had a home equity line of credit that I was using to do a major home renovation. Due to current credit climate, the line was frozen and I wasn't able to draw from it. I had to use personal lines of credit and savings to continue the work. I am almost complete and can handle paying the monthly amounts. Most of the debt will be paid off in July when I receive my year end commission statement. I am just looking for the extra cash at the moment to finish the renovations. I currently do Mortgage Sales for Bank of America, and have searched for a Home Equity line to use, but it seems all lenders have put a hold on what they will allow. I can provide pay stubs, w-2's and tax returns to fully document my income.
sounds great. as soon as you send the documents to lending club and they update your income status to verified, i'll likely fund the remainder of your loan.	Ok, I will call and see where I need to send the documents. Thanks,

What is your job? Are you considered temp, contract or permanent employee of NYU Medical Center?	I am the Divisional Administrative Coordinator for Cardiology and am a permanent employee. Thank you for your interest.
1. Please send in verification of your salary to Lending Club 2. Please explain the delinquency on your credit history 3. Please tell us how many cards you have, what the interest rates are, and what the monthly payments are Thank you	The delinquency on my history is from my cable company in college. I moved houses and had an outstanding balance of $20 that I never knew I had. It was an oversight on my part but I didn't know I had an outstanding balance until I checked my credit. I have 3 credit cards and the rates are 22%, 19.8%, and 18.5%. the total monthly minimum payments are roughly $175 but I always pay more then the minimum.. I should be able to pay off my entire balance with this help and have a small amount left as a buffer. Thank you for your inquiry.

Question	Answer
If you get the loan, will you have any trouble making payments during your last year in grad school? $24,000/income must cover all your living expenses plus initial loan repayments.	I actually finished grad school already and this is money I still owe the school. I unexpectedly stayed a year longer so I didn't have a chance to file a FAFSA or take out other loans. I live with rent-free, so my salary is plenty. I plan to be very diligent about repaying this loan.
What is your degree?	MA... why?
You're the one asking for money; I like to learn about the people I'm considering for loans. I value education. I'm curious if your graduate degree is related to your future income potential, or if it is in a field of personal interest.	OK, fair enough. Sorry if I sounded short in my last email... it seemed like an unrelated question, but your reasons for asking are definitely valid. I will probably continue to work as a teacher in my current job because I enjoy it. My MA is in environmental studies. I live in a fully paid for home rent-free and used cash to buy my car, so I really have no other expenses except for my college student loans. Hope that helps.
Since you are done with school...are you working a new job? What is/was your grade point average?	I am still teaching because I really enjoy my job. I have no idea what my GPA was... that's not such a big deal in grad school. However, they do make a BIG deal if you get a C or lower, so I know I never got anything lower than a B.
Please could you detail all your debt, indicating amount owed and monthly payments on each account.	Sorry, I have no exact answer. I have been in a grace period for my undergrad loans, but I just came out of it. I believe I pay about $250/month for other loans. I've been very responsible with those loans and have paid off more than half of the amount I owe despite being in a grace period for more than half the time (year of volunteer service in China, 3 yrs of grad school, 2 6-month grace periods). I live in a fully-paid-for home and paid cash for my car. I have a wonderful financial situation as I live with my boyfriend of 5+ years and he earns substantially more than me so he covers my cell phone bills etc. This will be the only debt that I will be solely repaying. Please let me know if you have more questions.

What was the delinquency in the last two years?	I had a CitiBank Visa card and I had thought that I set up automatic payments, but it turned out that I just did a one-time online payment. I found out a couple days after it was delinquent because they emailed me and I paid that day and thereafter set up automatic payments correctly.
If you only have about $1243 in credit card debt, what are you going to use the other $5000 in loan for?	I have a 4-year loan I took out at a very high interest rate that I will be able to pay off as well. It's for around $4650. The payment for the proposed loan is the same amount I have been paying towards my other loan and my credit card combined. If I get this loan, it will be paid off in 3 years, whereas if I were to keep doing what I'm doing in 3 years and 8 months the loan would be paid off, but my credit card would not.
1.how much is your rent? 2.Do you own a car? 3.any dependents?	My rent is $750. I own a 2006 Pontiac G6 - I am making payments currently. I have no dependents.

Are you a Nurse as well as a business person? What can you tell me to give me the confidence that you can make it in a downturn if this TV show does not work?	The television show is actually growing in this down-turn. We are adding stations each week to the lineup. In a down economy, there is a growing demand for feel good programming. The more stations on our lineup the higher the ad rates we can command. We also are diversifying our product offerings by expanding into corporate video production and branded programming. We already have clients ready to go on the corporate side.
What is the name of the show?	NurseTV
Do you have a website for your company we can look at?	The website is under development. The site for our current television show is www.NurseTV.com .

Question	Answer
What interest rate are your loan and credit cards?	Around 23%
Why can't you get a loan from your employer?	They dont do unsecured loans.
Will you accept th is loan if it is not fully funded?	Yes, but I am hoping it gets pretty close to being fully funded, the idea of taking this loan out is to consolidate debt and have one monthly payment instead of three.
Is the 15,000 going to be used pay the 18,208? Why did you the previous loan? How old are you? And long ago did you finish college, if you did finish?	Yes the 15,000 will be used to pay the 18,208. Had to purchase a engagement ring so my best bet at the time was to get one loan and use two of my credit cards. I am 26 yrs old, Finished college in 2006.

I don't have a problem paying my bills...at all. I can't even remember the last time I missed or was even late on a payment. The main purpose of the loan is to save me money in the long run. I did the math and a loan to eliminate my debt paid over the same length of time would save me a couple thousand dollars. My credit isn't great but it's not terrible. I would like to improve this before I get married next year. Thanks in advance for the consideration . Eric

Why does the 20K you owe not show up on your credit profile here? Also, can you please explain the delinquency 20 months ago?	the 20k was taken in late december
Please explain the delinquency that's listed on your credit. Also, your credit shows you have a $5000 balance, yet you say you have $20k on credit, yet your only asking to borrow $15k. Can you explain all that?	honestly, i didn't know how much to ask for - this is my first time using this service
I assume the $20k was a loan since it is not listed as part of your revolving credit balance. Can you tell me the purpose of this loan and explain the circumstances surrounding your listed delinquency?	Delinquency is not the correct term, at least from my perspective. I used the funds to help in the purchase of a home (downpayment) and now would like to lower the interest
This loan request reads like SCAM. Unless you're willing and able to send in verification of income to the Lending Club.	i was traveling for work and am in touch with Lending Club this morning to fax that documentation.
What is the monthly pmt to BOA now, and how will you cover the increase to the $551/mo for this loan?	i can afford the payment to BofA as it is, the monthly payment i am unsure -- probably 400-500. i am interested solely in lowering in terest any way i can.
What do you at your current employer? How stable is it? And what did you do before working at GlaxoSmithKline? Last Question: If you have a loan that you used for the purpose of House Down Payment, Why do you RENT?	Type your answer here. i am an art director in marketing/advertising at glaxo smith kline. very stable. prior to that i was a design director st tolling stone. i am finishing out my lease while parts of the house are being fixed - only till april

How do you think the business will perform in this economy where people are not traveling for vacations?	The Outer Banks is uniquely positioned as an affordable family vacation destination. My expectation is that people will still vacation, but will hold off making a commitment until their personal financial situation is clearer, or wait for last minute deals on accomodations. Once in OBX, visitors may cut back on dining and shopping, but will still look for recreation and amusement alternatives, particularly to keep children entertained and out of trouble when not at the beach. Fun fact from the visitor's bureau...even with $4 gas last summer, visitors increased by 4.5% to the Northern OBX beaches.

The purpose of this loan is to support my brother-in-law with his pursuit of an Associate degree in Engineering Science (full disclosure: I have worked as an electrical engineer at my company for nearly 7 years, so I am biased towards his selected program of study). He graduated from high school in Lima, Peru, in December 2008 and is very excited about studying in the United States. In Peru, a Bachelor degree from the United States is considered very prestigious and opens many doors to opportunities otherwise unattainable. He is currently applying for a student visa and these funds will be used to demonstrate to the United States Immigration and Citizenship Services (USCIS) the availability of liquid assets to support his educational and living expenses. Subsequent to his receiving a student visa and enrolling in courses this fall, I will cosign his private student loan applications to support the remainder of his education. I have offered my financial support because my brother-in-law has demonstrated to me that he has the aptitude and interest for a successful career in engineering. I have spoken with him at length about my experience with the academic rigor involved in engineering coursework. He is well aware of the demands he will face and I firmly believe that he is up for the challenge. I am currently employed with a defense contractor who has recently been the subject of many positive government and media reviews. My monthly gross income is $5867 (not including overtime pay) and my debt-to-income ratio is 16% (not including $850/month in mortgage payments). My wife also works part-time and her monthly gross income is $1250. Our daughter is 3 years old and inspires me to be a better man. We own a 2004 Buick Lesabre that we paid off in full last December. We live well within our means, which has allowed us to make significant progress in paying down our debt. I will be happy to answer any questions you may have about my credit history, outstanding loans, employment history, and other relevant topics. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Question	Answer
You mention your brother-in-law graduated from high school this past December. How old is he, and how long has he been married to your sister?	Thank you for your question and the opportunity to clarify. It is I, actually, who am married to his sister. He is 17 (turning 18 this September). My wife and I will celebrate our 5 year wedding anniversary this April. Please feel free to ask any additional questions you may have.
Why do you have such a high revolving credit card balance?	Thank you for your question. This balance is a combination of leftover expenses from the days when I funded my own education plus recent automobile, emergency travel, and medical expenses. Here's a quick breakdown. ~$5k was spent on a rebuilt transmission (Buick only had about 80k miles at the time - luck of the draw, I figure) and other unscheduled maintenance. ~$6k was spent on travel expenses for my wife to visit her dying grandmother and for my daughter to receive emergency medical care. The balance is attributable to expenses I incurred while funding my own education (vehicle maintenance, gas, supplies, etc.). Of this amount, $11k is locked-in at 0% (soon to be transferred to a permanent 4.99%), another $11k is locked-in at a permanent 4.99%, and $4k is locked-in at a permanent 7.99%. The remainder is a snapshot of my everyday card usage, on which I place all of my purchases and utilities in order to collect airline miles. Please note that I have not been late on any payments over the past two years; in actuality, I do not recall the last time I was late on a payment. I hope this helps to shed light on your concern and inspire confidence in your consideration of financially supporting my loan request. Thank you again.

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

As a lay minister in April of 2004, I founded and ran a program in the Upper Valley of Vermont and New Hampshire called Willing Hands, which has successfully completed its 501 c 3 qualification period, www.willinghandsinc.org, a fresh-food charity which today moves 120 tons of produce to some 45 area organizations assisting the needy every year, and now I am interested in writing of this experience, conducting workshops and promoting the book. I lead spiritual workshops, teach on-line, counsel and conduct all aspects of ministerial practice, under the Universal Life Church Monastery, operating as JoyFull Ministries in Virginia. I am in the process of applying for 501 c 3 status for this ministry, separate from the WH entity in New England. My intention for the funds would be to allow me to concentrate on writing, leading workshops, promoting the book (s), and taking a brief 6 month sabbatical from other ministerial duties. JoyFull Ministries website can be found at: www.joyfull.us.

Question	Answer
What is your background or experience in writing? Who is assisting you with your 501c3 application?	Hi, I have already formed a successful non-profit, in 2004, my ministry is actually a more straight forward application, less involved than the food charity I founded (www.willinghandsinc.org). My education as an anthropologist from American University and Univ. of Alaska Fairbanks, allowed me to write a great deal. This book, an exploration of my personal spiritual journey, is entitled 'What Am I?' and will be submitted to Fearless Books and/or Hay House publishers by the end of the year. I am currently developing workshops by the same name as the book, and have successfully completed one such workshop this past weekend, with very positive responses from all who attended. Thank you for your interest in funding this work.
Would you continue to be paid during your sabbatical?	My pay would be reduced by several thousand, as I would not be as active in giving workshops, which generate the bulk of my income at this point. My time to be spent writing the book and developing future workshops would be the main impetus for taking time away from my regular work. Thank you for your interest in my request.

Could you be more specific as to what your occupation is? What is the wood for? Heating? Do you sell cords? Could you also comment on your public record, which was 5 years ago.	Type your answer here. as far as the public record goes it was with capital one bank or I should say there lawers in 2002 I was hurt at work and spent a long time in the hospital so one of my credit cards did not get paid right away so on a 200 dollar bill the lawers wanted 1,160 dollars so I tried to fight them in court and found out that after a while it was just better to pay them off .Yes my buisness is selling cords of wood for heat
Since wood heating is a seasonal activity, do you have any other source of income. If so, what is it? Do you employ anybody to help you with the wood?	Type your answer here.in the spring when the wood season slows down i repair and build driveways and private roads in the spring I do use some help

Also, if you don't mind me asking, were you working at those retailers during school or after you graduated BC? BC is a great school and Ernst & Young is a top accounting firm, but I don't see how working at Target and The Limited fits in... Unless they were just college jobs.	I worked for those other places while in college and the summer before I started at EY. I quit after I started at EY.
Yeah, that's what I figured. I assume you got a BS in Accounting? I'm working on a BS in Finance and a BS in Finance at UVA. Probably gonna look at EY once I graduate.	I got my BS in general business with a concentration in accounting. EY is a great place to work, I recommend it.

it seems like it is hard to get by on $1000 a month. Do you have a mortgage? What other bills do you pay? Will the $152 a month payment on this loan strain your budget?	No mortgage.Balance on one credit card that will be paid in full in March. I rent one room out as an office and recieve another $500.00 a month for that as well as income. The $152.00 will be offset by the savings in utility bill when I have my windows upgraded and roof insulated.
20 years of employment? who's your employer? how stable is it now?	Twenty years RETIRED!! My employer is social security (very stable) and occasional income (not stated in loan application) that I recieve as an artist and renting out part of my home.

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

I have an outstanding balance of $10000 on a credit card. I have been paying more than the minimum each month but with the interest and fees I never will get ahead, which is of course the whole idea! I have asked about loans at the bank where I do business but they charge as much interest as the card and they want collateral. I would like to pay off the card as soon as I can.

Question	Answer
How much is your other loan for? At what interest rate? Is it credit card debt or something else? What is the loan for?	Loan is for $4000, the interest rate is a whopping 33%, it is a loan not a credit card It was to consolidate credit card debt. Now the payments are just going straight to the super high interest, so I'm not getting anywhere!

Question	Answer
Can you tell us more about your last delinquency?	My last delinquency was around Christmas time, where my automatic payment didn't go through for my credit card payment. Since my statement is paperless, I wasn't aware of a late payment. I cleared it up within a week of them notifying me.
What are the interest rates on the 4 debts you want to consolidate and what are the current monthly payments you are making?	interest rate on my loan is 11% with a payment of 137.00 a month. interest rate on my credit card is 15.67% and I pay anywhere from $80 to $120 a month I am on a payment plan to pay off some student expenses of $75.60 a month Before my deferred student loan kicks in at 15% I want to pay that off as well.
The veteran status helped me in my decision, the Eagle Scout sold me on it....	I was in the Army from 2001 to 2006, stationed in Germany and deployed to Iraq, Israel and Pakistan. I received my Eagle Scout in Jan of 1999. Thank you

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

Several years ago my wife started a graphic design company and because she was still in college she decided to use a credit card to help fund the startup. Now several years later she still has the balance from those expenses and the company has since dissolved (she chose to take a salaried position once we had our first of two kids). Because the balance is so high we send in a large payment monthly, which in turn, eats up our spending money for the month and the result, is having to use the same credit card. The balance has really not moved in more than 2 years and I do not see an end in sight. Please help. Having a fixed payment and term loan will give us the assurance that this will get better and we can start to invest in our kid's future. Thank you in advance.

Question	Answer
If this is for a ring purchase, why not just get a Zales store card or other store card that gives you 0% for 12-24 months?	That's a good question; I haven't gone to the actual diamond district stores in NYC to see what kind of financing I was able to get there. I have only found the ring that I was planning on purchasing online at james allen and didn't see any 0% financing available. I will look into this. Thank you for contacting me.
I just bought mine recently as well and if you are looking in the diamond district one place I would look into is a place called engagementringsdirect.com. That's their web presence but they are located in NY and have very good prices. You may end up with a better deal. It's practically wholesale for really great quality.	Thank you so much for the recommendation; I will definitely go take a look there when I go store browsing next week. I figured whatever extra money I have left from the loan I will use towards things I will need for my new apartment that I'm moving into at the end of this month. Thanks again!
Could you contact LendingClub to provide verification for the following information? Gross Income $5,833 / month Debt-to-Income (DTI) 4.08%	I have left (2) email messages and (2) voicemail messages to their customer service and am awaiting their response in what I need to provide (pay stubs, bills, etc.) so I can get them to update my status to verified regarding my income and DTI information. Please be patient and hopefully soon I can get this resolved as there are only 6 days left for me to become fully funded. Thank you for taking the time to contact me and I hope this gets resolved shortly.

Thank you for the opportunity to share with you my need. I would like to hire a divorce attorney to help me with the proceedings. It will not be an acrimonious divorce but legal advice is needed as we have a minor child. There are assets and once divided, I will be able to pay back the loan. I expect the legal negotiations to take 45-60 days. Our dates will come within another 90 days and the official findings will come another 90 days after that. I expect to be able to pay back the full $5000 within the next 12 months once the assets and cash are distributed evenly. I have small credit card debt (under $1600) which I'm able to make payments on every month and otherwise, I have no other debts. Without the money to pay the legal retainer, however, I am at risk of never getting the savings that I had built up during my marriage and I cannot risk losing custody rights because I don't have proper legal representation.

What custodial arrangements have you and your spouse come to agree upon in the amicable divorce?	Type your answer here. Hello. Raising our son was something we actually did well in our marriage. He is a very good father and I would never do anything to negatively impact the time or quality of hours he spends with his son. We currently live exactly one mile apart and share in decisions for school, sports, medical needs, etc. Our beliefs on discipline and schoolwork are very much in line with each other's. We make up a two-week schedule and share our son every two-three days depending upon our work schedules. The calendars are posted on our individual refrigerators so that our son knows exactly what to expect. Our son comes to my office to do his homework and then either comes home with me or his Dad picks him up. We try to make it very easy on him so that the burden of having to go to two different homes is not hampered by having to remember where he should be when. It has worked out very well. In fact, our son is on vacation now with my husband for mid-winter break and I will take him on spring break. We both (my husband and I) work full-time and sometimes have evening obligations for work. In order for us to work all of that out, we have to communicate well and be able to be flexible to assist each other. That's been our goal from the beginning and we've stuck by that. I appreciate your question and I'm happy to answer any others. I appreciate too, that your question was about such a difficult and important component of a stressful situation.
Hi - You indicated you have $1600 of credit card debt but the credit history reports a credit balance of $8700. Please explain. Also can you give more information on the reported delinquency? Thanks.	I will look into it but it must be credit cards held by my husband. If its solely listed in my name that it is an error. I only hold two credit cards and use them rarely.

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

I have several small needs for this personal loan. I recently completed a move across the state to be with my fiance, which accrued some small cost. I also recently purchased a small business, which I am running from home part-time aside from my full-time job. Beyond these things, I also have a few credit cards I'd like to pay down a bit. I don't have a pressing need for this loan, but I have a decent income and expect to be seeing more in the coming months due to my new business. I think I can afford to take on another small payment right now to take care of a few things, and help generate some more revenue.

What is your home business?	First, thank you for the question and your interest! I'm currently offering consumer financial and credit consulting. I have recently taken on my first few clients, and have begun helping them better their personal situations. I do this after hours from my regular job, and it has certainly helped my income a little for now.
what's your current position at JMP? Are you paid salary or commission based? How much is your rent & Utilities? Is anyone dependent on your income? kids, fiance, etc. How much is your car Insurance Payments? if any.	I'm a credit analyst. I'm paid with a base salary with additional commission. My rent is $370 per month, utilities about $125 per month, and my fiance and I split both costs. I have no children, and my fiance is a full-time student but receives 100% financial aid through scholarships, so nobody is dependent on my income. My car insurance is $120 per month.

I am trying to consolidate 3 credit cards with high interest/APR ranging from 21-28%. I built this debt by: 1. Helping my out of work father who currently lives with me. 2. Paying for groceries and bills during college while I attended school full-time. For the past 3 years I have been working at an advertising agency and I have not been able to catch up to the debt. 1. Could you explain the delinquency on your credit history? 2. What do you do for Ogilvy? 3. What are your monthly expenses currently? 4. Would this loan pay off all of your credit cards? Thanks	1. I recently discovered that I went about $100 over my credit limit on one of my credit cards. When I discovered this I immediately paid the amount when I got my next paycheck. Otherwise, I don't think there is anything else bad in my credit history. 2. I am a copywriter 3. Between my rent, food, electric/phone/cable bills, and commuting expenses my monthly expenses are around $1700. 4. The loan would be paying off my high interest credit cards--I have 4 of those (Chase, 2 Bank of America cards and 1 Dell). When I pay these off I quite honestly plan to stick them in a shoe box and avoid using them ever again... and canceling the Dell card.

Question	Answer
1. Can you shed some light on the recent delinquency. 2. How has/will the bank fallout impact your employment?	1) The recent delinquency was just forgetting to pay the bill. I moved and my bill was going to my old address. When I received a call from collections I paid it immediately. I understand that this loan would be auto-deducted from a bank account. 2) I work for a large portion of the bank and I've been told that even if my local office closes I will be moved into a nearby office. Due to the complexity of the technology here, even if my local office "closes" we will not be able to move out of this office until 2011. The technologies that I am in charge of are essential to 1/6 of the bank. Of all the banks, JPMorgan Chase is in one of the best positions in this economy.
you mention this is a short term loan, what is your time table for repayment?	Short-term meaning only 36 months.
What type of work do you do for the bank? Also, have you sent in documentation to LendingClub for them to verify your income information? Thanks	I work in Technology Architecture, basically designing and planning tech projects. I sent in W2's and contact information. Lending Club called me to verify everything.

Question	Answer
Could you explain the delinquency 10 months ago?	I have no excuse to offer for the delinquency. I thought I had paid all of my bills current as I do every month. However, apparently that one bill escaped my attention and did not get paid. When I received the first notice of non-payment, I assumed that the payment and the notice simply got cross mailed. I paid the bill current as soon as I realized I had mistakenly not paid it. I accept full responsibility for the mistake and I paid the late fees associated without complaint. I do not make a habit of not paying bills and was/am embarrassed that this occurred. Thank you for giving me the opportunity to answer your question.
How much of the $18,000+ revolving debt is what you will be refinancing here? What is the remainin debt amount? Also, have you send salary info to LendingClub for them to verify? Thanks	I will use the entire loan amount to pay down the balance on my revolving debt. This will decrease the debt to approximately $7000, which I have already transferred to a credit card with a much lower interest rate (5.99% until 1/2010). My plan is to pay down as much as possible of that $7000 before the introductory rate re-adjusts. I have not provided salary information, such as tax records, to Lending Club for verification at this point because they have not been requested. However, I will gladly provide these documents upon request.
Thanks for providing the information Lorie. It sounds like you have a good plan going. The salary info is voluntary, but if you submit it to LendingClub and when they verify the information, they will then indicate it as verified on the loan profile which enhances your chances of getting full funding from lenders.	Thank you for the information. I will definitely submit that information.

Question	Answer
Please list the balances, current monthly minimum payments, and the interest rates of the credit cards you want to pay.	One card has a balance of $5500 with an interest rate of 15.94%. Its minimum payments are around $150 per month. The other has a balance of $1000 with an interest rate of 14.99% and minimum payments around $25.00 per month.
Are you presently paying more than the monthly minimum?	Yes. I try to pay more than the minimum when I can.
could you verify your income to lending club?	I make $40,000 annually or around $3,333 per month . That is my gross income. I net around $2,600 per month.

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

My mom has had some bad luck and made some decisions that have her in financial hot water. This happened over the last several years and though I knew she was having some difficulty, I did not realize the extent of her financial woes. To make a long story short, she accumulated a total consumer debt of $40,000. I was able to pay off a good chunk with my savings, but she has about $25,000 left. $18,000 of this is currently in a line of credit with Bank of America that has an interest rate of 18%. (The other debt I paid was credit card debt with interest rates in the mid to high 20s.) This loan will be used to help pay off that line of credit. I recognize that stories of family distress do not necessarily merit extension of credit. So, here is my financial situation for your review. I recently accepted a new position at a hospital in Chicago, where I work in hospital administration. My wife is an attorney and we do not have any consumer debt or car loans. Our mortgage/tax/insurance payment is ~18% of our monthly gross. We have about $45,000 in graduate student debt, which is financed, primarily, over 30 years. That's it for our debt. We're diligent about our finances and fortunate to have good jobs. I hope you'll consider supporting me as I assist a loved one in need.

Hi, I'm trying to get a loan to pay off a few credit cards & some medical bills. I've never missed a payment on any of them, but it's difficult to pay a bit here & there, I just feel like I'm not getting anywhere. I've asked for the loan over 3 years, but I know it will be paid off before that! I'm employed full time in Healthcare Locums Staffing, which is really booming right now. Once my debt is paid off, I'd like to start nursing school myself, so this is a big step for me to getting on the right track!

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

The purpose of the loan is to pay off current high interest credit cards and pay off my debt. For the first time in my life, I was unemployed in 2001 (last recession) for 8 months and used credit cards to pay expenses. I chose not to file bankruptcy as I felt responsible to pay my debts. A few collection accounts (paid) from 2001 adversely affected my credit score for the past 7 years which meant the credit card APR's were high and paying down the debt was difficult. Despite making more than the minimum payments; making steady payments; and having a stable job (professional) and residency, my credit card/loan accounts are with the now notable BIG three banks. In January of 2008, one of the banks raised my APR without providing a reason in writing! I received a letter, but it only stated my APR would increase. First I was told it was because of an adverse credit report and when I checked into this, it was not accurate. Over the course of a year, when I requested to have the rate returned to the previous APR or reduced, the request was refused. BUT, they were more than willing to offer me a "great deal" where they would give me another credit card at a low interest rate!! I refused and when I did the research, I discovered that this was a new tactic being used where the higher interest credit card account would have been closed and opening another account would have adversely affected my credit score (thus further indebting me to that bank)!!!! This offer occurred when my credit score improved as the collections accounts from 2001 were no longer on my credit report.....It is important to note that one of my bank card holders raised my credit limit at a time when banks were lowering credit limits and the bank that raised my APR, never lowered my credit limit.....I'm not a high risk, I'm a cash cow and enslaved to the BIG Banks!! Help!!!!

Question	Answer
Greetings - What is your payment on the current card(s) and remaining balance? What is the rate on the card(s)? Thanks and good luck. Art	Total Minimum Monthly Payments = $350.00 (I pay more than this amount each month); Remaining Balance Total = $12,180.00; Rates: 24.74%, 19.990%, 18.00%, and 0%. The 0% card was only applied for, and approved, after the 24.74% lender would not reduce the rate. Some of the debt from the 24.74% card was transferred and will remain at 0% for the next 3 months. The 18% is a fixed rate and does not change. I applied to Lending Club for the total $12,000. debt, and was approved, but if I agreed to the total amount the lending rate would have been higher than the $7200 lending rate. Because I am truly trying to pay off my debt as soon as possible, I decided to apply for a lower amount and I understand if I do not close these credit accounts and reduce the debt/credit ratio to below 30%, I may be able to renegotiate a lower interest rate on any remaining balances. I have the motivation to continue making payments slightly higher than the minimum payments due on the non-Lending Tree balances to pay off the remaining debt difference. Thank you for your very valid inquiry. I look forward to the day I can "Pay It Forward" and become an investor. Please feel free to ask me any other questions.
Hello - What is your profession?	I would prefer not to give my exact job title as I am concerned it would allow for personal identification in a public forum. But, I will say I have a 4-year degree and graduate courses. I have worked throughout my career in the education and social services fields. Primarily employment and training counseling, substance abuse prevention, grant writing, non-traditional teaching, and program development.
Can you please verify you DTI and gross income with Lending Club?	To my understanding, Lending Club has verified my debt through the credit bureau(s) as of 2/14/09. I can provide a pay stub(s) to verify income which would verify the DTI.

Question	Answer
I am glad that your credit score has increased. Do you still have the 5K in the bank? Has it increased? This loan will increase your debt load. How do you plan to reverse that trend?	Thank you for your good question. I currently have $3k in the bank. Maintaining my low debt-to-income ratio is important to me. That is why the majority of this loan will be used to increase my income by expanding my part-time eBay Trading Assistant business. With my previous experience as an eBay PowerSeller, a recently improved market for TA's, and new focus on estate liquidation in the affluent Palm Springs / Palm Desert area, my goal is to double my income in 2009.
What is your handle on prosper?	Thank you for your question. My handle on prosper is aacorey
How will you find estates to liquidate and what will be your edge? What do you do for Entrar.com and what % of your salary is from them? Thanks	Thank you for your question. With my recently acquired status as a BuySafe bonded and insured Trading Assistant on eBay, I am able to garner estate accounts directly from estate attorneys. I hold a record on eBay for highest average selling price per item for used items. That allows me to offer a top dollar guarantee that few Trading Assistants offer. I am Marketing Manager, with nearly 100% of my salary from Entar. I also have a small additional income from websites that I own, am a part-time consultant for Fontaine Faucets, and have an expanding eBay Trading Assistant business.
Thank you, I checked your info on prosper and I think I will buy your Notes here.	Thank you for taking the time and investing in my loan.
what is your current status with Prospe r?	Thank you for your question. My status on Prosper is 100% current, and my personal credit has improved by two letter grades in the past 16 months. I already paid down the majority of my Prosper loan in that period, with several double payments.

Question	Answer
There is no legal way to have a loan with that high of an interest APR. What type of loan is this?	Yes, I got 79.99 APR for 3 years. Original amount $4000.00 or 4K. Term of loan is 3 years. Total interest $ is about $7300.00 approximately; add this to the principal. It is from a pay day loan establishment. I'm still thankful for the loan because it prevented me from selling my 2005 Toyota Tacoma which was fully paid for prior to the 79.99 loan.
how did you end up with a 79% interest rate? Isn't there State max limits in your state? How much is your rent & utility bills? How much is car insurance? if any. Do you have any dependents? What was the last two inquiries?	First, I want to say that I am still thankful I got the loan from the Pay day advance establishment because the only other option was going to be sell my 2005 Toyota Tacoma pick-up truck to pay a debt to one of my relatives/friends. I believe most people only borrow small amounts to be paid only pay day from these establishments. The original principal was $4000.00 or 4K. I only 2K now.

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

I am carrying approximately $6,000 in credit card debt bearing high interest rates. I would like to get out from underneath this debt by consolidating the entire amount into a lower fixed interest loan with a set pay off date. I am a disabled individual with a fixed monthly income. My credit rating is currently in the high 600's. I have a good payment history with no derogatory entries or delinquencies. My ability to repay a loan as I am asking is very secured due to my fixed income and minimal other expenses. Thank you for your consideration.

Question	Answer
Why only $2000 if you have appx. $6000 in credit card debt	$2000 is the amount that was approved when I applied for the Lending Club loan. I am going ahead with this figure for now since it will refinance the largest individual debt balance and place it on a better pay down schedule. Also as a side note my credit for February stands at 687. Thank you very much for your assistance.

If your income 25,000/month, why don't you just pay off the remaining balance?	Thanks for asking. I have ongoing investments that are paying much greater interest than the cost of these loans. Glad to answer any further questions.
what is your prosper user name for which this loan is refinancing	jshorts
You have been employed 15 years earning decent income, why were you delinquent 18 months ago?	Who rem embers what happened 18 months ago? Perhaps I forgot to issue a check, perhaps the receiving company made an error, perhaps the mail system failed. Who knows? I have a feeling that perhaps you would be happier lending your money elsewhere.

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

I am seeking to consolidate two high interest rate credit cards, which are currently at approx. 23%. My other credit card debt listed in this profile is at approx. 9%, which is why I am not consolidating that. I have a secure job with Thomson Reuters, where I have worked for 18 years as a marketing specialist and graphic designer. The 5 inquires into my credit over the last 6 mos. were all attempts to consolidate these two high interest rate cards. However, as we see in the news, the banks aren't lending even to people with good credit. I have not missed or been late on a payment for more than 10 years, but these inquiries have lowered my credit score. Although, my profile says that I rent, I actually do own a home, which is an investment with my mother. The bank would not allow us to structure the mortgage in both of our names because we do not live together and my income alone would not qualify for the loan (which is 30-year fixed rate mortgage at a good interest rate), but name is on the title. I live in the house, which is also a rental property and the rent collected from my roommates pays the mortgage. I only pay utilities, a car payment of $306 per mos. and my credit card payments. My yearly income in 2008 was $65,595. I can verify this income if necessary. This loan would not lower my minimum monthly payments I currently make - it would be about the same. However, I already make more than the minimum payments and am seeking this loan to pay off my debt quicker with less interest.

1.What Kind of return are you expecting to see from your investment? 2.Will there be any interruption in your current income with Allstate? 3.is your income commission based? If so do you expect an increase in commissions? 5.What is your current rent payments? 6.how much is your utility bills? 7.any dependents?	This will be a very long term investment, but the ROI for the last 2 years has been slightly over 200%. (the business started 2 years ago as a side project and has now evolved into full business with 1 full time person and some part time help) There will not be any interruption in my current income, as I will mostly be a silent owner (help out when I can). I am paid a salary. I am moving in with a family member and so my rent and utilities will be dropping from around $750/month to $400/month. No Dependents.
What is the business?	It is a motorcycle shop. (mostly internet based part sales.)

This borrower member posted the following loan description, which has not been verified:

Recently divorced and adjusting finances to further my debt consolidation plan. I have taken on much of my ex spouse's debt and pay monthly child support, in addition to a high cost of living in the DC metro area. I have taken steps to reduce my monthly obligations by downsizing my vehicle, reducing unnecessary spending, and increasing my salary. I have mapped a 5 year plan for divorce recovery and am aggressively pursuing fiscal solvency. I would like to request loan to consolidate one of my revolving credit accounts into a structured installment account to reduce APR and apply more repayment to actual principle. This will allow me to avoid the "minimum payment trap" and to better manage my financial responsibilities.

Can you FAX in information to confirm your monthly income?	Yes, I can fax or Email income confirmation if given contact information.
I like your proactive approach to handling your situation. 1. What do you do for Advantage SCI? 2. What did you do in the Army? And thank you for your service! 3. Do you have a degree and if so in what field? Thanks	Thank you for the vote of confidence. In the military, I worked in the intelligence field and served in a number of roles ranging from force protection activities to collection operations. Advantage SCI is an independent contractor that supplies technical experts to fill needs for the Department of Defense and other agencies, where I currently support research and technology protection. I have a two year degree in Intelligence Operations from Cochise College and I am pursuing branches of education including sociology and developmental psychology. I still don't know what I want to do when I grow up, but I am very interested in early education.
What are your monthly living costs mortgage/rent, child support, alimony and car payment?	My monthly expenses include the following: Child Support - 1821.00/month Rent - 1500.00/month Car - 397.96/month Credit debt is currently in flux as I manage it to lower interest accounts and my other expenses vary, but are approximately average for food, fuel, etc. I also carry auto, renter's, and health insurance.
